* Consulting parties, as defined by Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act, are individuals or organizations that have a demonstrated interest in a project's effect on historic properties or cultural resources eligible for listing on the National Register. This interest can be based on concerns about a project's potential impact to historic properties, as well as economic or other concerns. The Surface Transportation Board, the lead federal agency for this project, makes the final decision about what parties become consulting parties other than those required by law (see Section 106 regulations at 36 CFR 800 for a detailed explanation of consulting parties, <http://www.achp.gov/regs-rev04.pdf>).
